RESTRICTION.

Once when I was poor,
 Love knocked at my door,
 "Some and wretch," I said, "who begs;
 And my cup drained to the dregs!"
 So I turned him from the light
 Out into the helpless night.
 Once, with golden store,
 I knooked at loves sweet door,
 "Some and wretch," he cried, "whose gold Would my loving breast enfold?"
 So, he cursed me from the light,
 Out into the homeless night.

THE U. S. Lightship Tender Golden rod, bound for Pittsburgh, had a narrow escape from sinking just after she had left the wharf at Chambersburg Monday evening. After leaving the landing the pilot became blinded by the electric light and the steamer ran into the timber along the shore.

It will only be a few days now before we can make positive announcement as to the exact time we can begin giving away the "Magic City." It will contain everything of importance connected with the World's Fair, including all the buildings, the Midway, etc. Wait for it, watch for it and don't be satisfied until you get it. The views given by other papers in Cincinnati are nothing like these and are not to be compared with those to be given to every reader of THE PUBLIC LEDGER. HEREAFTER the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will print Uncle Sam's postage stamps, and this is as it should be. An annual saving of some $70,000 will be effected. Two expert engravers from New York have been engaged to make the designs of the new stamps and the work will begin at once.

HON. J. D. KEHOE, who has charge of the Treasury Branch of Uncle Sam's great printing office at Washington, has recently repainted, repapered and refurnished the establishment, making it a veritable beauty, and altogether the most comfortable and attractive spot about the great building. Best of all, the fact that "Dexter" is in charge is assurance that the printing done is of the highest order, for Mr. Kehoe has few equals as a printer. This LEDGER predicts for his administration a brilliant success, and feels about three years hence he will deliver his charge to his successor in the best possible shape.

Merchants, Attention!
 Please read THE LEDGER'S proposition, under head of "Where is Dan?" to be found in another column, and then have your name placed "on the list."

The Date of the Explosion.

To settle a dispute among some of our citizens we have looked up the date of the explosion of the boiler at the James H. Hall Plow Works and find it occurred on Thursday, January 27th, 1881, between 10 and 11 o'clock a. m., which caused the loss of one life, that of W. J. Harris, the engineer.

Taking Depositions.

An officer served summonses on a number of witnesses to appear in Lexington to-morrow to give testimony for Miss Madeline Pollard in the famous suit against Congressman Breckinridge. She and her lawyers will be there, as will Colonel Breckinridge's son Deak and several of his attorneys.

James Pollard intends to prove that James Rodes, the deceived old man who was so deeply in love with her that he sent her to the coalfield schools, was at the same time living with his aunt, Lena Singleton.

AS FRIEND MEETS FRIEND.

There is the same greeting in all countries.

The First Salutation is Invariably an Inquiry About Health—The Doctor of Good Deeds and Wisdom—The One Cure for Neuralgia.

"How do you do?" is the phrase all over the world. In every language the first greeting inquires about the health.

Winter with closed doors and windows, dust and indoor life endangers health, brings a bad condition of the blood and a lowering tone to the nervous system.

"The most certain indication of badly nourished nerves," says Dr. Weir Mitchell, "is neuralgia."

Nothing more tried, aching nerves of all irritation like appropriate nerve food, Paine's Celery Compound best meets this need. Neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago and kidney troubles, due to poor blood, yield to Paine's Celery Compound when nothing else gives relief.

Mrs. L. Van Zile of 392 Liberty street, Paterson, N. J., whose portrait is given above, writes as follows:

"I enclose you one of my pictures, that you may show it to suffering humanity and tell what Paine's Celery Compound is doing for me. I am still using it, and it is doing a great work in my family. I have recommended the remedy to several sufferers."

"Am taking it for neuralgia, with great benefit."

Paine's Celery Compound is the one true specific for all diseases resulting from an impaired nervous system or impoverished blood. Try it.

"If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect."

Fred W. Bauer is attending the A. O. U. W. at Louisville.

Miss Clara Staton of Helena was visiting friends in this city yesterday.

Miss Nannie Holton of Tuckahoe is the pleasant guest of Miss Ida Proctor of the Sixth Ward.

William Chandler of Shannon has returned from a visit to his sister at Millersburg.

Mrs. Fannie Beeding has returned to Millersburg after a visit to friends here and at Nepton.

Miss Mae Proctor of the East End is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. William Marsh of Moraburg, "Down on the farm."

Mrs. James H. Hall, Misses Sadie Hall, Lolla Thomas, Mary Cox, Lizzie Seisewsky and Messrs. James H. Hall, Jr., and Ad. Wadsworth, Jr., left this morning for Cincinnati to see Fannie Davenport.

HERETICAL PRAYERS.

Here's Another Pretty Propaganda Handout, Dauterchne.

The Catholics and Protestants of East Tawas, Mich., are in a row over the Public Schools.

A short time ago Father Brueck appeared at the school and requested the Catholic scholars to leave the room during prayer.

Professor Ogerby objected, and suspended scholars for breaking the rules, that is, leaving the room without asking permission, which, it is claimed, would have been cheerfully granted if asked for.

The School Board was appealed to, and passed resolutions sustaining Professor Ogerby and censuring Father Brueck severely.

Now Father Brueck will apply to the Circuit Court for a mandamus prohibiting the religious service.

Excitement is at a high pitch.

The Waynes gave another excellent performance at the Opera-house last night in the presentation of "A Strange Lady." To-night will be presented "Rip Van Winkle," and that it will be given to us in a grand style has been exemplified by the production of the other two plays by this excellent company.

STOLE THE HOUSE.

And the Thieves Are Expected Back to Take the Cellar.

When thieves carry away a house in five days they are becoming pretty bold. Such a thing has been done in Newport within the past week.

About two months ago Colonel R. W. Nelson purchased a one-story frame dwelling from the Rich estate.

The price paid was $950, a fair compensation for the property.

For the last two weeks it has been vacant.

The sign, "For Rent," was torn down by some unknown person.

On last Wednesday evening several large strips of weather-boarding were torn off by a crowd of young miscreants, who have been in the habit of enjoying campfire life on the banks of the Licking.

From time to time the lads visited the place and tore off boards, shutters, window sills, etc., until last Saturday night nothing remained but a few posts and a portion of the roof. The amount of damage done will be $400.

A sign placed on the foundation reads as follows: "Will be sold for the benefit of the poor. Call and see us at the river bank office. Nit."

WHO CAN TELL?

Where Is the Wandering Boy To-Night, Can Anyone Tell?

Thomas Hodge of Berlin, Bracken county, was in the city yesterday looking for his lost son, Henry Hodge, who left home on the 7th of January, and who has not been heard of since.

The son is only 16 years of age and on the day mentioned his father took away from him on account of his age and fears something had happened to him. The boy seemed to get greatly offended at this and left home stating that he was going to visit his neighbor.

The same evening he was seen in Germantown, and has not been seen since. A few days ago Mr. Hodge received word that his son was in Mayville, and he came here to investigate, but report seems unfounded, as he can find out nothing here regarding him.

Mr. Hodge is greatly worried about his son on account of his age and fears something has happened to him. He did not have but ten or fifteen cents when he left home and was not an over-healthy lad.

He was dressed in a suit of light color, had on no overcoat, and is rather a big boy for his age. The father states there was no reason for the boy leaving home as he did all in his power to make home pleasant for the lad.

The son was a little out of humor at his father for taking away from him, and unless it is that caused him to leave, Mr. Hodge cannot account for his strange actions.

Both mother and father are terribly worried over their son's mysterious actions, and Mrs. Hodge, who has been ill, has been compelled to take her sick bed again.

THE PRESIDENT'S SIGNATURE.

One Man Gets Paid for Writing Grover's Name.

Much of the President's business consists in signing his name, which must be attached to all appointments, commissions, promotions and a thousand and one other documents. So exacting is this part of his duty that he cannot perform the whole of it. One employee of the Government gets $1,900 a year for writing Mr. Cleveland's name on land warrants. He does nothing else but that. There are other officials in Uncle Sam's employ, by the way, who do nothing else, practically, but sign their own names. This is almost the sole duty of the Register of the Treasury, who is kept hard at work signing documents from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. every day. The Assistant Treasurer of the United States is another slave to his own signature, which he is perpetually engaged in affixing to warrants for money. Mr. Cleveland's messages to Congress are all written in autograph originally. He does all his writing with his own hand. Such documents are produced on foolscap, with pen and ink, turning off sheet after sheet with scarcely a correction. An interpolation is rare in his manuscript. In this fashion his most finished speeches are evolved. The literary method pursued by President Harrison was wholly different. He found it very hard to write with a pen, and so he would keep by him a pad of paper and a soft lead pencil. With these he would jot down notes from time to time during leisure moments, and from these fragments thus made he would afterward dictate to the stenographer. The messages sent to Congress are careful copies of the original. Senator Edmunds, while presiding officer pro tem, of the Upper House, refused to receive a typewritten message from the President. He declared that it was not a "message" in writing, and that the type script was not writing in the proper sense. This ruling established a precedent which has been followed ever since.

Special Notice.

After this date Thomas A. Davis

becomes sole owner of THE PUBLIC

LEDGER, having acquired the stock of all others interested.

The paper enters to-day upon its thirty year, with a phenomenally large subscription list, a rapidly increasing circulation, and with the most fast turning patronage for the future.

For these favors a generous public will please accept our grateful thanks, with the assurance that Mr. DAVIS will strive to merit a continuance of greater degree.

PUBLIC LEDGER CO.
THOMAS A. DAVIS

Mayville, Ky., Jan. 10, 1904.

"As a calamity croaker, the editor of THE LEDGER is a howling success," says Brer MARSH. Right you are, neighbor;

it would be a poor howler who couldn't make a success of the business when you've had supplied so much calamity to howl about.

A DEMOCRATIC Senator says that one

explanation of Mr. CLEVELAND's apparent indifference to public sentiment is that he is not permitted to see any newspaper criticism of himself. "Private Secretary THURBER," says the Senator,

"goes through all the papers that come into the White House. He only cuts out for Mr. CLEVELAND's inspection the laudatory paragraphs. Even friendly criticism which is penned in the President's interest is suppressed by Censor

THURBER. Mr. CLEVELAND is really in ignorance of what the public sentiment of the country is."

THERE is a strong feeling among the House Democrats against the Civil Service Law, and prospects are that when the question of appropriation for the Commission comes up it will meet with formidable opposition. Unlike his predecessor, Mr. STOCKS, who voted for the law, Congressman JASON BROWN is especially active against the measure, and is strongly supporting Congressman

FITZMAN's Bill for its repeal, which has many friends. If Congress will repeal the whole business it will demonstrate the gratitude of all who do not believe in such Democratic-Mugwump flapdoodle, and they compose a great majority of the Nation. Smash the "snivel" service bumbling!

LYING Free-trade editors continue to

CONDENSED NEWS

The Turks killed 125 Armenians and wounded 240 more during the recent
